

Incorporating bimodality within coastal flood risk analysis

- Modelling total sea carries the risk of underpredicting responses such as wave overtopping and beach drawdown.
- Other work includes climate change allowance, physical modelling and storm clustering

